IPAM (Indigenous Peoples Awareness Month)

In the Library

Let's look at the Medicine Wheel. It reflects Indigenous traditions and teachings. Divided into four segments, with different colors representing its content, each quarter corresponds to a phase of life, a direction, a traditional medicine and an aspect of being, giving us a good intro to their beliefs.

Sharing a meal is also a good place to learn about other cultures and traditions. Therefore, every Tuesday and Thursday in September, come to the Library for a food tasting!!
